ADT Security

As the world's leading electronic security company, ADT Security has delivered proven security solutions for more than 130 years. Our experience working with the private sector, health facilities and residential care homes has allowed us to develop solutions to meet your specialised needs.

security solutions

As a responsible healthcare professional, you understand the need to ensure that your security system is installed and maintained to reflect the often complex needs of your patients, visitors and staff. Our solutions do more than simply keep up with your facility - they help guide it. We provide an integrated security system to protect staff and patients and help your facility run smoothly.

With vulnerable patients and residents, as well as staff, visitors and valuable equipment to protect, the healthcare industry needs effective security solutions. Whether it is a stand alone system or one that is fully networked, we use the latest technology to provide you with a comprehensive solution.

leading edge technology

ADT Security provides a wide range of solutions designed to help you protect your assets. Our systems and services include;

- > Access Control
- > Monitored Intruder Alarm
- > Closed Circuit Television (CCTV)
 - Visual Verification
 - Virtual Guard Patrol
 - Video Escort
- > Indi-Pendant Medical Alarms
- > Communication Systems (Intercom Systems)

access control

Most healthcare facilities have high value items vulnerable to theft and vandalism. To protect them, unauthorised entry to restricted areas must be prevented, without impeding legitimate access and circulation.

ADT Security's access control systems allow you to select who goes where and when. Access groups can be established, permitting you to give different access levels to different personnel.

tailored solutions to fit your budget, as well as your security needs

monitored intruder alarm

A professionally installed, maintained and monitored intruder alarm system is a significant deterrent to crime. Your ADT security system will be designed and installed by our dedicated team of engineers using products that have been evaluated and rigorously tested.

Your system can be monitored 24 hours a day, 365 days a year from facilities on your site or by remote alarm receiving centres. This ensures that police and other emergency services can be summoned promptly, and that false alarms can be eliminated.

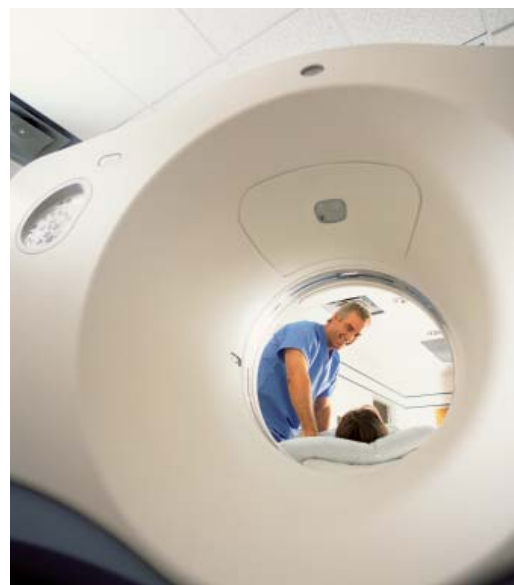

CCTV

We can support our sophisticated intruder alarm and access control with a variety of sensors and CCTV equipment. The use of CCTV to deter, detect and document crime is vital in today's environment. We specialise in providing CCTV systems which meet the requirements of individual premises. The use of CCTV is widely accepted as a deterrent to behavioural crime. Visitors and patients can be monitored in communal areas and can provide vital evidence.

Visual Verification allows you to identify a potential intrusion without having to attend your premises. Our trained professionals can view video from our ADT security monitoring centre to assist in verifying the cause of an alarm, saving you any unnecessary anxiety and reducing false alarms.

Virtual Guard Patrols integrate the capability for our trained operators to view CCTV footage from cameras located at your premises from our monitoring centre. This enables our operators to remotely patrol your premises, at a fraction of the cost associated with traditional guard services.

Video Escort allows ADT Security operators to view live CCTV footage from cameras located at your premises during high risk or uncomfortable situations such as openings and closings or when making your way to your car at night. Feel more secure in the knowledge that our trained professionals are watching and ready to notify police if a situation becomes threatening, helping to ensure your safety.

Indi-Pendant personal medical alarms

Our personal emergency response system is designed to alert help in the event of a medical or other emergency. With the press of a button, our fully trained monitoring specialists will respond to your situation as soon as they receive your alarm signal.

your dedicated account manager

With ADT Security, you will have a dedicated account manager, whose sole responsibility it is to ensure that your unique requirements are fully met and consult with you to determine the scope and content of the service to be provided. Your account manager will have experience in serving the healthcare sector and they will be able to update you on new and emerging technology to enhance your security arrangements.

certification

ADT Security is a member of the Australian Industry Association Limited (ASIAL), which promotes a professional code of conduct within the security industry. ADT Security employees adhere to the code laid out by ASIAL and are appropriately licensed. Every medical facility has its individual security needs and priorities, finding the optimum solution requires professional advice.
